FRONTAGE MAY BE OWNED TO ZONE BASIS

Remarks made by supervisor Charles Arnold, at a meeting of the city and county board of health, indicate that the board has hopes that a proposed frontage tax improvement project will be adopted in the near future.

Supervisor Arnold outlined the proposed changes, including a partially complete print of the business district, and a thoroughfare improvement project for the future.

He said the only difficulty to the proposed changes, now known, is causing a city and county attorney considerable thought. This was when a declaration of intention to proceed could be so drawn as to be possible to pick out certain subdivisions for improvement, without the necessity of a declaration of intention.

He declared that the proposed would materially lessen the expense of every improvement, including the incidental expense.

James McCandless, who had never opposed an improvement, was inclined to favor the improvement according to the supervisor.

The supervisor urged that all improvements of bus routes be carried out by the city, with others that would involve thoroughfares leading to residential districts.

No protests against proposed widening of Bishop street from Hele to Allen streets, were made at the public hearing. The supervisors will now take the project for consideration.

PASTEL PAINTING TO BE EXHIBITED

An interesting exhibit of pastel scenes in and around Honolulu will be held next week at the home of Miss Guy H. T. 1059 S. Kaimuki, Kaimuki. The paintings, of them in all, are by Miss P. Featherstone, an artist who has spent the last four years in Honolulu.

Miss Featherstone, more than any other artist who has exhibited here, has succeeded in catching the delicate nuances of the Hawaiian scene, and the delicate nuances of the Hawaiian scene, and the delicate nuances of the Hawaiian scene.

The exhibit will open to visitors afternoons and evenings of the entire week, beginning Monday, Dec. 2.

Samuel C. Sower enlisted man at Schofield Barracks is one of three brothers now serving in the United States army. All three have joined since the beginning of the war. Their home is in Denver, Colorado. The Denver Post of recent date prints the following article concerning the three: "Mr. and Mrs. H. Sower, 4593 Tenneyson street, have given their three sons to aid our country in the war."

"Samuel, 18, the youngest boy, enlisted in February and went at once to Schofield Barracks, Honolulu."

Edwin, 24, joined the aviation corps in San Francisco, was later transferred to the 1st squadron at Omaha."

"Warren, 26, was in the first call and is now serving at Camp Lewis, American Samoa."

"And if they hope sons to give, say Mr. and Mrs. Sower, they would give them willing to do all in their power for their country."

JAPANESE COIN LACKING, PAPER NOTES ISSUED

The first issue of the Japanese 10 sen notes have arrived in Honolulu. Owing to the fact that the small Japanese copper and silver coins have been gobbled up, the Japanese government has found it necessary to issue paper money for all denominations.

The merchants in Tokyo and other large centers have gone to the churches for small coins, but have been unable to get them in sufficient quantities to carry on the business of the country. Japan has issued paper money in the denominations of 10, 20 and 50 sen, which is equivalent to the United States nickel, dime and quarter.

About six months ago the Japanese government issued a copper coin worth 5 sen. The coin was the same size as the 5 yen, but in order to make it distinct a hole was made in the center. Japanese in using the telephones tied a string through the coin, and when they had secured their number pulled it out again. As a result the coins were withdrawn from circulation.

FINAL SELINSKY RECITAL MONDAY

A much larger audience than at either of the two previous recitals is expected at Max Selinsky's last concert Monday evening, as this amazing artist has the gift of drawing to himself more and more interest at each appearance. Each time that he has played here in public he has displayed new ability or charm of artistry.

Honolulu has the name of being unappreciative of really good music, but this cannot apply to juvenile Honolulu. One of the most appreciative audiences before whom Selinsky has ever played, according to his own statement, was that which heard him in recital at Punahou last week.

"I almost forgot my violin in watching their faces," Selinsky said in speaking of it. "Every feeling of their souls was mirrored in their eyes, and I watched them change at every change in the music. They were hungry for it, and I took joy in giving them the best I had."

The program which Selinsky will give on Monday night in Mission Memorial Hall is as follows: Sonata, Cesar Franck; Concerto, Mendelssohn; Ballade en Polonoise, Chopin; (a) La Princesse, Concerto, Kreisler; (b) Indian Lament, Dvorak-Kreisler; (c) Moment Musical, Schubert-Kreisler; (d) Tambour in China, Kreisler.

HOBBY GETS $900 PAY BUT FUTURE STILL UNCERTAIN

The last of the three assignments of $300 each allowed by Maj. Charles R. Forbes to W. R. Hobby, acting superintendent of public works, for the territorial auditor yesterday. Unless the major comes through with a new batch of assignments, Mr. Hobby will be facing the approaching holidays with the same cheerless prospect as was his some months ago when he was holding down the job that Maj. Forbes had held at $400 a month, but not knowing whether he was to get any salary at all.

Territorial Auditor Manley G. K. Hopkins said that until or unless new salary assignments come from Forbes, Mr. Hobby cannot be paid by the territory. This is because Major Forbes has not resigned from the position and Mr. Hobby is acting as his substitute.

It is believed by some officials at the capitol that Major Forbes is now in France. A recent letter to one group of them stated that he would be leaving soon for a place the censorship rules forbade mentioning, and it is supposed the major meant France.

WHITENING EXPERIMENTS AT KAHUKU SUCCESS

Laboratory experiments made recently at the Kahuku plantation mill promise the evolving of a method for whitening Hawaiian sugar without the necessity of sending it to the mainland refineries. The sugar taken from the experiment pans is almost as white and well granulated as is the refined product.

It is claimed that if it is found the sugar can be whitened on a large scale as was as it is in the laboratory it will prove an excellent product for the use of the Hawaiian pineapple canneries.

Although not authenticated by those interested in the plantation, it is reported that machinery for whitening much of the sugar made at the Kahuku mill is to be installed. The 1917 crop at this plantation was 3128 tons.

ARRANGEMENTS FOR BEAN SHIPMENTS HERE MADE

Arrangements for fumigating, drying and inspecting Maui beans for shipment to Honolulu have been completed by J. F. Child, federal food commissioner, who has returned to Honolulu from a business trip to the Valley Island.

These beans are to be shipped to a local agent, to be designated later, who will sell them to the wholesalers. The wholesalers, in turn, will dispose of them to the retailers, who will supply the public.

Mr. Child says that there are now enough beans grown in the territory to do away with importation. As a matter of fact, he says, the islands are exporting beans, two or three tons having been sent to the mainland recently by the territorial marketing division. He declares that the quality of the Maui beans is as fine as that of the beans imported from the coast.

PLANTATIONS TO BEGIN 1918 GRIND NEXT WEEK

On the Maui plantations the 1918 grinding is being started late as it was delayed by the drought.
